

HOMEBOUND & ATTENDANCE SUPPORT

Students Experiencing Homelessness

Guide

Consistent

instruction keeps learning going even when everything else is changing.

How to keep learning consistent when a student's housing changes.

MCKINNEY-VENTO

The federal McKinney-Vento Homeless Assistance Act requires districts to identify students experiencing homelessness and remove barriers to their enrollment and attendance, including through a designated local liaison.

The challenge, and how Fullmind solves it

The challenge	With Fullmind
! Moves, long commutes and unstable schedules make attendance hard.	✓ Flexible scheduling that fits each student's circumstances.
! A new school or teacher every time housing changes.	✓ The same certified teacher over time.
! Coursework doesn't match the student's school.	✓ Coursework aligned to the student's school.
! Support happens apart from the district's liaison.	✓ Coordination with your McKinney-Vento liaison, when applicable.

Why it matters Flexible academic support coordinated with school staff helps students maintain a connection to learning during housing instability.

4 questions to ask any provider

- 1 How flexible can scheduling be?
- 2 Will students keep the same teacher?
- 3 How do you coordinate with our McKinney-Vento liaison?
- 4 What attendance and progress data will we receive?

What a good program looks like

- Flexible scheduling
- The same certified teacher over time
- Coursework aligned to the student's school
- Coordination with the district's liaison

How to fund it

McKinney-Vento Education for Homeless Children and Youth subgrants, plus the Title I, Part A set-aside for homeless students. Check allowable uses with your federal programs coordinator.
